

Methyl Iodide Study Raises Concerns

This fall, California regulators are considering whether to approve the controversial pesticide methyl iodide. Strawberry growers say they need it for their $2 billion annual crop. But scientists warn that methyl iodide can cause miscarriages and brain damage in farmworkers.

Listen» KQED

KQED

Source URL: <http://www.panna.org/media-center/press/methyl-iodide-study-raises-concerns>