

Cancer-Causing Pesticide Heading To Local Farms

A toxic pesticide linked to cancer could soon be headed to fruit farms and flower fields in San Diego County.

State regulators just approved the controversial chemical methyl iodide, and Kathryn Gilje of the Pesticide Action Network said, "It's a significant gamble for California to accept the use of methyl iodide."

Read More» 10News.com San Deigo

Source URL:

<http://www.panna.org/media-center/press/cancer-causing-pesticide-heading-local-farms>