

PAN Newsletter, Fall 2013

Five of the world's six largest GE seed and pesticide corporations—BASF, Dow, DuPont, Monsanto and Syngenta—are using prime farmland on the Hawai'ian islands to test new GE crops. Their experimental plots are displacing smaller farmers and driving up the use of health harming pesticides.

Download PDF»

Source URL: <http://www.panna.org/issues/publication/pan-newsletter-fall-2013>